Bonfire Guide

In order to avoid problems and possible legal action, it is recommended that you follow the checklist below:-

- Only burn dry material.
- Never burn household rubbish, rubber tyres, or anything containing plastic, foam or paint.
- Never use old engine oil, methylated spirits or petrol to light a bonfire or to 'encourage it'.
- Avoid lighting a fire in unsuitable weather conditions - smoke hangs in the air on damp, still days and in the evening.
- Avoid burning if the wind will take any smoke into neighbours gardens/houses and across roads.
- Avoid burning at weekends and on bank holidays when people want to enjoy their gardens.
- Never leave a fire unattended or leave it to smoulder.

Bonfires can be dangerous. Fire can spread to fences or buildings and scorch trees and plants.

Exploding bottles and cans are a hazard when rubbish is burned.

The Fire and Rescue Service will deal with bonfires if there is a risk to the safety of people or buildings.

For further information and advice you should contact your local fire and rescue service office.

The Stickney & District Gardening Club Show Committee would like to thank EVERYONE who participated in our first Stickney Show.

Thank you to all the sponsors, the generous donators of raffle and tombola prizes, the wonderful judges and everyone that entered the full range of competitions. It was a great effort from you all and the tables looked magnificent with all your produce displayed.

Thank you too to the stall holders for putting their trust into our first Show, and to everyone that baked cakes and cookies and served the refreshments.

We hope to bring the Show back to you next year even bigger and better.

Gardening Tips for October:

By now the weather is cooling fast and the first frosts will probably hit us this month. I see October as the month we move from the growing season of one year, to the preparation for the next. So let's think about harvesting the fruits of our earlier efforts and what to do in preparation for next year.

1} Any potatoes that are dug up will probably contain some that have not been covered when you earthed up and will have gone green. These potatoes will contain a poisonous alkaloid, solanine, which causes stomach upset if eaten. A rule of thumb suggests that you throw away any that are more than a third green. Apparently, the rest, if otherwise perfect, can be stored in complete darkness and in a month or so will no longer be green. Personally, I have not tried this as I err on the side of caution and dispose of them.

2} Grow your own saffron by planting Crocus Sativus. These are corms which should be planted 10cm apart in 10 - 15cm deep in gritty, well-drained soil, in full sun keeping the area weed free. The harvesting of the tiny tails of saffron is painstaking, but very rewarding especially as it is such a costly item to purchase.

3} Any brassicas that are growing should be protected from snacking pigeons with a covering of netting supported by pots. The netting should be kept taut to prevent birds becoming trapped.

4} You can plant autumn onion sets from now until early November. These will mature next summer, earlier than the spring planted ones. Don't be tempted to grow too many, as they don't keep as long as the spring planted cultivars. Popular sets include the red skinned 'Electric' while 'Senshyu Yellow' is a high yielding golden skinned onion with pale flesh. 'Shakespeare', if obtained, stores better than other overwintering onions.

5} Finally in brief:

a) Sow overwintering broad beans in situ. Cover the broad beans with fleece or cloches to provide insulation as well as giving protection from pigeons.

b) Keep an eye on any Brussel sprouts, removing yellowing leaves to prevent grey mould from becoming troublesome.

Finally, a couple of gardening jokes that won't win the best one-liner at next year's Edinburgh fringe:

My gardener talked to me about edible herbs I can grow.
It was sage advice!

A friend perfected his garden's flower beds through a process of trowel and error!

Happy gardening
